Two Shades of Green. Women who are possessed of ruddy complexions should bear in mind that the light green now so fashionable is net suited to them because it is a color which has the effect of producing an overheated appearance. A delicate green, on the other hand, is favorable to pale blond complexions because it imparts a rosiness to such complexlons, red, its complimentary color, being reflected upon green, says Woman's Life. Violet is an unfavorable celor for almost every kind of complexion because reflecting yellow it in FRENCH FIEMEDS creases that tint when it is present in the skin or hair. It gives to an olive complexion a jaundiced look. Blue, again, is unsuitable to brunettes because it adds to the darkness of the complexion. Yellow, orange and red complexion. Empire gowns will be exclusively worn in the evening by some of the very smartest of Parisian women and among them Mme. Waldeck-Rousseau, who is wise enough to wear just what suits her, whatever the fashion. A hint, by the way, for anybody who has empire gowns made at home or by a "petite conturiere." One of the big Rue de la Paix houses, a house which makes a specialty of this kind of toilet, makes all its empire gowns with a broad band of elastic inside, just above the waist line, and fits the gown to be worn without corsets.

The Napoleon Hat. Among the remarkable array of hats that are shown for the winter season those made of tulle and lace seem most inappropriate and would rather suggest a garden party chapeau with their lovely trimmings of satin velvet flowers and green leaves or lace, exquisitely jeweled embroideries and ostrich feathers. The Napoleon hat, howand choux of velvet, and the girl who has selected one of these fetching hats has made a wise choice, for she will Frost has come to stay. - Pittsburg anteed. Give him a call.
